“Last Call from Earth”

NOTE: Between the book and the movie there are several differences:

As presented in the movie RUPTURIAN IV:

- ✓ The Ptolomeo Dual Spiral is beyond the Local Group of Galaxies.
- ✓ That means that it is beyond the reach of the Rupturian Intergalactic Network (RIN) for a normal teleportation within its realm. The only way to be teleported to the planets of the Ptolomeo Dual Spiral, is using the Intergalactic Teleportation Chambers that were installed there by the Rupturians. The teleportation doesn't take years, like in the book; it is instantaneous.

Colonization of the Ptolomeo Dual Spiral

Along with designs for Inter Galactic Teleportation Chambers, the Rupturian soulstrings, anticipating that the Homo sapiens would eventually need other areas in the universe in which to survive and expand, identified several regions similar to Earth in terms of temperature, basic element components, and duration of day and night periods. These areas came to be known as the Ptolomeo Dual Spiral (The Spiral), shown below.

The Spiral has about one billion stars. It is 30 million light-years away toward the constellation Pisces when traveling in the curvature of space-time. Using the space-time tunnels (wormholes) identified by the Rupturian soulstrings, we can get from Earth to the outer part of The Spiral in ten years, traveling on parallelon waves, which have a speed greater than the speed of light. At parallelon waves' speed, traveling among all colonies through The Spiral's wormholes network takes fifteen years.

The “Ptolomeo Dual Spiral” was given that name in honor of Ptolemy’s idea that the Earth was the center of the universe, since it is for the Homo sapiens anyway—even when we have to add the caveat, “relatively speaking.”

Before coming to Earth, the Rupturian soulstrings installed initial Inter Galactic Teleportation Chambers in the colonies so that it was enough for us to build a first teleportation chamber on Earth to start the colonization process. With this first chamber, we began transporting small block structures until we were able to build mass teleportation chambers.

Al Herr V’s note:

Traveling in the Ptolomeo Dual Spiral is done by scanning the objects/persons and converting them to Electromagnetic Packets (EMP’s). What is transmitted is the EMP. At the destination station, the EMP is interpreted, and the object/person is replicated back into being.

In the scanning process the object/person is disintegrated and their string-wave components are sent to the Not-Being dimension of reality, creating a quantum entanglement, which forms the basis for replicating back into Being.

Ptolemy (Claudius Ptolemaeus) (Ptolomeo) (astronomer, geographer); Ptolemaist Hermii, Egypt, 2nd century

According to Ptolemy, the Earth is the center of the Universe. This theory remained for several centuries until Copernicus (astronomer, Poland 1473–1543) proclaimed, and Galileo (astronomer, physicist, Italy 1564–1642) proved, that the Earth moves around the sun.

Throughout a period close to fifty-four years, we colonized, with 800 million people, seven colonies in the Ptolomeo Dual Spiral.

The adjective “Dual” comes from the fact that in the Ptolomeo Dual Spiral there are two sets of space-time tunnels—one set for going and another for returning. This way, the energy of the teleportation waves is maintained in balance.

Our colonies in the Ptolomeo Dual Spiral have the colony New Earth as the starting point. Going up and around in the right direction we have the colonies Thebes, Teotihuacán, Nazareth, Angkor Wat, Pompeii, and Shangri-La. These names were chosen because they represent important civilizations in the history of mankind.

New Earth—The planet New Earth is the first colony in The Spiral. From Earth, it takes ten years to get there. In New Earth, there are replicas of the main cities on Earth: Little New York, Little Paris, Little Moscow, Little Tokyo, Little Cairo, Little Calcutta, Little Rio de Janeiro, Little Mexico, etc.

All teleportation from Earth to The Spiral (and from The Spiral to Earth) makes an obligatory stop here, since it is the spiral’s firewall for customs, security, and health. All living beings—people, flora, and fauna in general—and all material and electromagnetic objects entering and exiting The Spiral are subject to scrutiny at the molecular level, including a check for conditions that may affect the microbiological eco systems of the planets when entering, and of the Earth when leaving.

Thebes—Greek word that means “city of the doors.” The Greeks gave this name to one of the most important cities in ancient Egypt because it had huge doors that communicated with the gods. The Egyptian name was Apet.

The planet Thebes is the gate door to the internal part of The Spiral. All teleportation activities to the internal part of The Spiral are initiated here.

Teotihuacán—Capital city of the Toltecs, in Mexico. Teotihuacán means the “place where the gods are born.” Quetzalcoatl, the feathered serpent, was born in Teotihuacán. He gave birth to the fifth cycle of man: the Fifth Sun. Quetzalcoatl represents the cyclical characteristics of man’s evolution. Now we are in the sixth cycle, or Sixth Sun, which began with the appearance of the Virgin of Guadalupe.

In the planet Teotihuacán, replicas were made of the ritual sites of Tikal, Tenochtitlán, and Teotihuacán. Tepeu and Little Helen made a copy of the waves in the parallel dimension on Earth for these ritual sites and brought them to this planet so that, in the future, they would be able to visit events from the past that occurred at these sites.

Nazareth—Place where Jesus was born. It represents all religions in their purest form.

The planet Nazareth is at the heart of The Spiral. It has several suns, moons, and large asteroids shining by reflection, creating a uniform spring weather temperature at all times. There are no nights. Cities are built under magnetic shields that simulate night every twelve hours. Beneath the shields, it is practically like being on Earth, with the time divided in hours, days, nights, weeks, months, and years; but outside there is no change of temperature and there is always a uniform daylight .

Nazareth is also called the “Silicon Planet” in reminiscence of the “Silicon Valley” that existed in California. Nazareth is the place to go for scientific research in mathematics, physics, communications, and information technologies. Mathematics advances exponentially, associating numbers and symbols; it becomes the language of communication for anticipated non-human beings that are suspected to exist in yet unknown areas of the universe.

Angkor Wat—In northern Cambodia, treasure of the Khmer empire from A.D. 802 to A.D. 1431. The temple of Angkor Wat is the largest religious monument in the world.

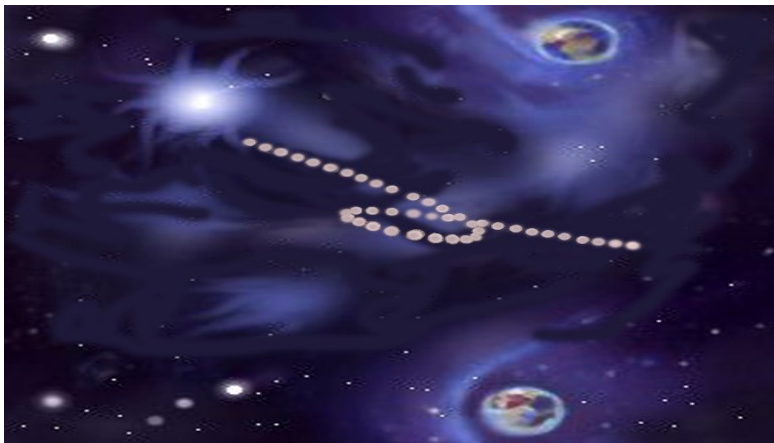

This planet is reserved for people with tendencies, awareness, and needs of a spiritual nature. Living in Angkor Wat is a privilege given only to people of merit, of all races and walks of life. Angkor Wat is Akhenaton's city dedicated to god, Akhetaton, at a planet level. All religions are allowed. In the planet Angkor Wat, there are research programs dedicated to the understanding of our mystical mind. What is it that poses on us human beings a spiritual quest?

Pompeii—Roman city on the bay of Naples, destroyed by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in A.D. 79. It has been excavated for more than 250 years. It is called the eternal city. In the colony Pompeii, the main interest is to optimize man's biological evolution. There are all sorts of facilities and research activities dedicated to molecular biology, including cloning, soul transplantation and transfiguration, personal stem cell banks, rejuvenating programs, and the like. The Children of God, instead of in all planets as originally planned, are incubated and fine-tuned—biologically speaking—in Pompeii.

Shangri-La—Represents eternal youth. Shangrila, or Land of the Thunder Dragon, is in Bhutan in the Himalayan range. It is a paradise, with unspoiled ancient cultures and traditions.

This planet is reserved for people over 100 years old. At the age of 120, people either die by disintegration or are transfigured into Human Soulstrings.

Utopia—This colony was added to the original seven to be inhabited only by the Children of God. Utopia is an archipelago of 1,000 small planets half the size of the Moon, interconnected via Inter Galactic Teleportation Tunnels. A religion based on new paths to spirituality is created.
